TRAININGS AND WORKSHOPS

Trainings and workshops expand and enhance your knowledge:

We offer training courses and workshops wherever you are:

- Product and process training
- Additional training also on your installations
- Practical training with the latest technology
- Training on the mobile training device

INDIVIDUAL TRAININGS AND WORKSHOPS

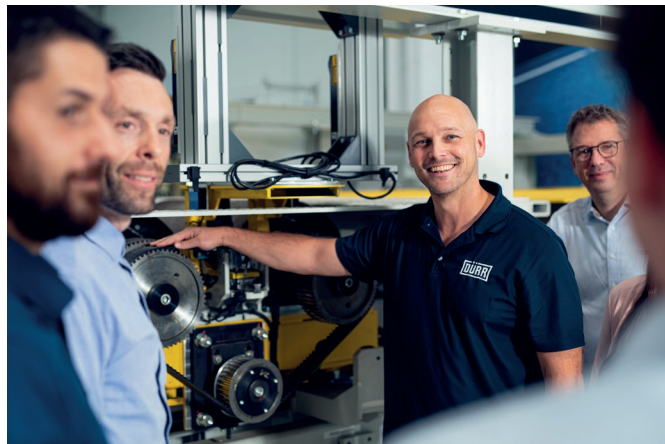

We are pleased to arrange your training individually together with you.

This means that we can offer you basic seminars and advanced courses for every product in our product range, as well as customized training courses to meet your requirements.

In addition, you can also book ready-made training packages that give participants a comprehensive insight into the technology of our standard products.

The training targets of each training unit are listed in a brief description, as well as the duration and required prior knowledge that the participant should already have.

All participants receive a certificate after successfully passing the final exam.
